The Tarot Project

Joe Boginski has recently been selected to illustrate an important selection of tarot cards, to be printed in 2014. These drawings depict images that will be featured on the cards, published by U.S. Games, and speak to the curious, innovative, clever, and-- at times-- slightly sinister mind of the artist.

Upon his completion of the project, the full collection of Boginski's tarot card drawings will be featured in a solo exhibition at the Fernando Luis Alvarez Gallery.

About the Artist

Quiet and unassuming, this recent graduate from the School of Visual Arts in New York does not exude your “typical” artist personality. With an affect that seems more computer-nerd than creative, Joe Boginski is a surprising talent acquired by the Fernando Luis Alvarez Gallery. His illustrative pieces contain a playfulness and vision that emulates some of the comic greats. There is a primitive yet expressive quality about Boginski’s work; his drawings are constantly teasing with the mind of the viewer, and each look unveils a new, humorous element.

Working in pen and pencil, the stylistic delicateness to the line-work and edges of Boginski’s drawings generate an aura of intrigue. His mind creeps into the far recesses of the imagination, finding that every stone may be overturned to reveal a world never before expected. Beneath floorboards, he finds entire worlds seeping with adventure and absurdity. Talking with the artist, you can only imagine what his dreams must be like; surely the quiet power of his images must manifest themselves in a space outside of reality.

Boginski is exclusively represented by the Fernando Luis Alvarez Gallery.
